

CFGIS PRIVACY POLICY AND DISCLAIMERS

CFGIS PRIVACY POLICY

The Central Florida Geographic Information Systems (CFGIS) initiative receives support from agencies covered by the State of Florida Public Records Law (Chapter 119, Florida Statutes) and therefore data related to the initiative is also public record unless exempted by state law. Because of this, you should be aware that information submitted to CFGIS (whether from this website or through another means) may also become public record. Specifics regarding the CFGIS privacy policy are detailed below.

HOW WE HANDLE THE INFORMATION WE GATHER WHEN YOU VISIT OUR WEBSITE

Web server activity logs

Like most web servers on the Internet, our servers collect and store all of the information that your web browser sends when it requests a webpage, including:

- the name, domain, and numerical internet address of the "host" computer (typically a computer belonging to your Internet Service Provider and not your personal computer) from which you access the Internet;
- the date and time you accessed our site;
- the Internet address of the webpage that you came from;
- the page you requested from our site and the number of characters sent to your computer; and
- the information your web browser software sends as its so-called "User Agent," which typically identifies the browser software and may also indicate the operating system and type of CPU used in your personal computer.

It is impossible to determine the actual identity of an individual user from this information.

The logs may be periodically summarized and analyzed in order to study site usage over time and to perform other studies to help us improve the site's organization, performance, and usefulness.

Electronic mail

When you send us personal identifying information via email (that is, in a message containing a question or comment, or by filling out a form that emails us this information), we use it to respond to your requests. We may forward your email to other individuals or organizations who are better able to answer your questions. At our option, we may also add your name to a database of GIS users maintained by CFGIS (see "Marketing information" below).

File transfer protocol (FTP)

Many CFGIS sites using the file transfer protocol may also store your email address if your web browser is configured to provide it. By default most web browser software does not send your email address; this option is configured through your browser preferences. In Netscape Navigator, for example, this option must be set by you through the Advanced preferences category by the item labeled "Send email address as anonymous FTP password".

Online surveys

When you voluntarily provide us with personal information as part of an online survey, we use it to perform various quantitative and qualitative analyses to improve service and satisfaction. We may forward the information collected to other individuals or organizations to perform the actual analysis. You are under no obligation to participate in such surveys. Non-participation will not inhibit your use of our website in any way. If you provide an email address with your survey response, we may add information about you to the CFGIS database (see "Electronic mail" above).

Marketing information

We may collect information that will allow us to provide various services, such as promotional materials, newsletters, and product availability notices for use in a CFGIS database. The database uses email addresses, so if you have more than one email address, we may add you to the database more than once. The database or information in the database may be forwarded by us to others who we believe to have legitimate reasons for wanting the information. We will remove information on you from a CFGIS database at your request. However, please be aware that if you request to be removed from a CFGIS database and later wish to be added back, we will require an email specifically stating that from the email account you wish to have back in the database.

Collection and release of gathered information

We want to make it clear that we will not obtain personal identifying information about you when you visit our website, unless you choose to provide such information to us. Except in the course of officially authorized law enforcement investigations, or in the event of a suspected attempt to deliberately circumvent our system's security with the intent to gain unauthorized access or to do physical damage (for example, an attack by hackers), we do not attempt to identify individual users of the CFGIS website. In the latter case, collected information associated with a suspected intruder might be shared with an incident response service such as the CERT® Coordination Center.

RETENTION OF COLLECTED INFORMATION

Cookies - Some applications may save a "cookie" on your computer's hard disk to provide a temporary history of actions taken. A common example is the tracking of items placed in an online "shopping basket." We do not retain any record of "cookies" beyond what is necessary for running the application.

Web server activity logs - Monthly extracts of the log files are archived and stored off-line at our discretion for an indefinite period of time. Some statistical summaries derived from these data may be retained online or off-line at our discretion for an indefinite period of time.

Email - Information collected via email will be retained at our discretion in a directly readable form for as long as necessary to complete our response. The email itself may be retained in an archival form.

Online surveys - Information collected via online surveys may be maintained at our discretion for an indefinite period of time.

Marketing information - Such information may be maintained at our discretion for an indefinite period of time.
